Adults Only

My website is always undergoing construction and production.
It's constantly getting
tweaked, redeveloped, redesigned
& optimistically stepped forward.
I appreciate your patience
and I apologize for any inconvenience
that this may cause.
Please be patient with me.

Thanks for your visit.

I need your help.

There might be an occasional error or mistake that is made in all the
this construction and reconstruction.
In case you perhaps cum across a mistake
(example: bad link,misspelling,etc.)
Please let me know , so it can be fixed right now.
Doing so would be very helpful and very much appreciated.
You can do that by clicking here .
Thanks,
- LAcumBoy.

You may be wondering why this website was created.

There are several reasons:

The first reason of creating this website is that it's allowing me to be more creative, express myself and learn in the process. I am able to learn more about html, CSS and other computer codes. Computer language and technology has always fascinated me and I find it very interesting. It has always been something that I've wanted to learn more about. The construction of this site has definitely given this knowledge.

The second reason is that I had hundreds of personal photos that I had shot throughout the years. All of these pictures just became lost and forgotten on my various drives. I needed to find a place where they could be organized, displayed and shared to the world. It seems that a website would be the best and most appropriate place to do this.

The third reason is due to the creation of my Tumblr blog, "Sketch"SLAM! I created this blog a few years ago. It consists of guys slamming on video. To my surprise it become overwhelming popular very quickly. That's when I also discovered the size of this underground slamming world and how popular it was to guys all over the globe. I began to receive emails from guys all over the world who raved positively about my site and commented on my personal videos that I had uploaded. It wasn't too long after I was getting requests from guys wanting to see more of my videos. However, I couldn't upload the dozens of videos that I had collected quick enough. It also seemed that Tumblr was also beginning to censor all videos of this subject matter. A lot of the videos that I attempted to upload to Tumblr ether stopped or failed to get uploaded. Ultimately, I needed a place to share my videos to the world. Whereas numerous of other websites and web-hosting sites have shut my websites down and/or deleted my videos. I quickly began to realize that there are a lot of organizations that strongly look down and did not like this slamming, drug-using world. Time to time I have issues with even with Tumblr. I found this very frustrating and so I needed my own place to showcase these slamming videos. Today most of my videos have been uploaded to Pornhub. They seem to be the one of very few websites that allow this type of content with no problem. I thank Pornhub for allowing my content and are the one in which are hosting my videos. I hope you enjoy.
